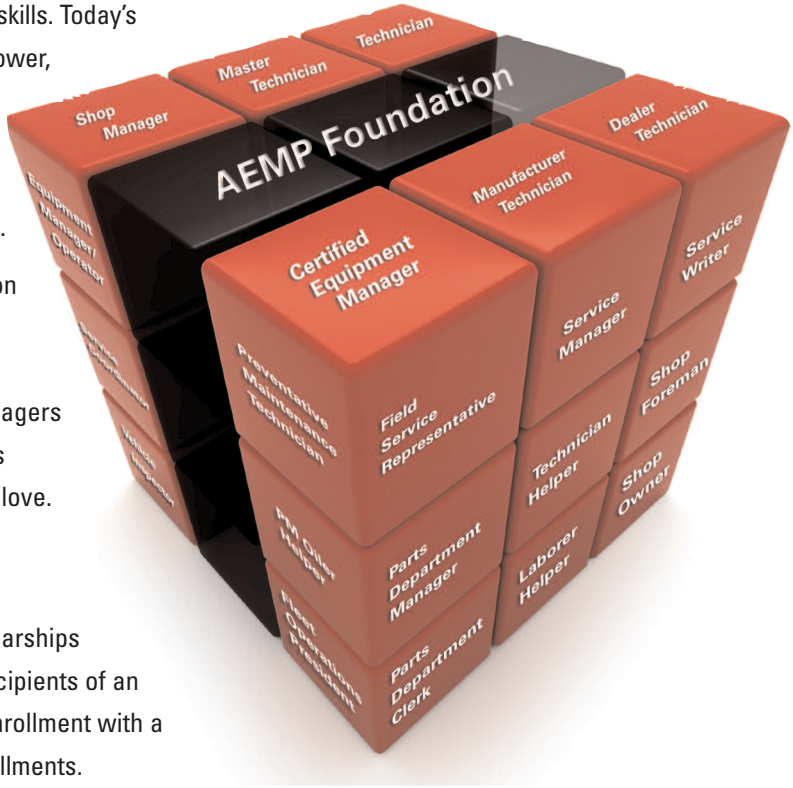
Did You Know?

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the US currently employs over a quarter million heavy equipment engine technicians. By 2016, that number is expected to grow to 306,000. The projected demand for technicians will grow 11% annually between 2006 and 2016. Furthermore, as current industry workers begin to retire between 2012 and 2025, the demand for skilled diesel technicians will become more and more pressing.

The field of heavy equipment is rapidly changing — and so are the skills needed to maintain the equipment. Evolving from diesel mechanics, today's heavy equipment technicians possess mechanical aptitude, a desire for lifelong learning, and strong problem-solving skills. Today's equipment contains a great deal of computer power, advanced electronics and communication systems. New technology for safety, pollution reduction and fuel economy will provide technicians with an ever changing, ever growing knowledge base.

A career as a heavy equipment technician will position you in a high-demand industry and provide you with outstanding pay and benefits and excellent career opportunities. In fact, many of today's leading asset managers are former equipment technicians. Don't miss out on this opportunity to build a solid career around something you love.



About the Scholarships

Each year, the AEMP Foundation awards numerous scholarships valued at $500 per semester for up to four semesters. Recipients of an AEMP Foundation Scholarship must maintain full-time enrollment with a minimum 3.0 GPA to receive additional scholarship installments.

Although scholarships are awarded on a per-semester basis, the Foundation requires a full renewal on an annual basis. To qualify for a scholarship renewal after 2 semesters, students are expected to maintain full-time enrollment with a minimum GPA of 3.0 and complete and return an application with updated information, transcripts and one new letter of recommendation.

Additional scholarship funding will be made only if the student meets renewal requirements. Awards are sent directly to the educational institution the recipient is attending, to be administered on a per-semester basis.

To Qualify as an Applicant, You Must

- Have an interest in a career as a heavy equipment technician
- Maintain a 2.0 GPA throughout high school
- Plan to attend a college or vo-tech program that offers a diesel technology program
- Provide all required supplemental information to the Foundation by submission deadline
